Torpedo	Monument	6¼	54	Stripe
Toro	Landmark	6	60	Stripe
Perfecto	Constitution	6	50	Stripe
Double Corona	Bottle Rocket	7	50	Stripe

Two Connecticut wrappers create a pin-stripe effect on this unique cigar, introduced in 2007. A dark maduro Broadleaf covers most of the outside of the cigar, but a Connecticut Shade leaf peeks out underneath all the way around, except for the Constitution, which has the lighter leaf on the outside! The blend is full-bodied and the America is offered in dramatic boxes of 20 that features a fold-out top (except for the Bottle Rocket, offered in packs of three).

C.A.O. has united its flavored cigars in a single series with four primary sizes, offered in 25s for the Petite Corona, 20s for the Corona and Tubos and in tins of ten for the Cigarillo. All are made in the Dominican Republic, using Dominican-grown binder and filler leaves, but with two different kinds of wrappers: Cameroon on the Gold Honey, 2008-introduced Cherrybomb (no Robusto) and 2009-introduced Caramely Joe (also no Robusto) and Connecticut Shade on the Bella Vanilla, Eileen's Dream, Karmasutrasplash, Earth Nectar and Moontrance. The Gold Honey line is infused with orange blossom honey from Florida, the Bella Vanilla incorporates vanilla beans from Madagascar and exotic fruit and bourbon vanilla extracts are used in the Moontrance blend. Two special sizes were added to the Moontrance line in 2004, including a tubed size, and another in 2007 (Small Cigar).

Introduced in 2003, the Eileen's Dream line incorporates Irish Cream and white chocolate truffles, while EarthNectar salutes the Tuscany region of Italy with a mixture of toasted almonds, cocoa, honey and raisins combined with Chianti. The KarmaSutra Splash, introduced in 2004, combines the flavors of Hawaiian mango and chocolate mint ice cream!

This unique blend was created by Maxoly of Miami, Florida in 2007. It features a remarkable choice of wrappers, including Connecticut-seed leaf from Ecuador, Dominican-grown and Mexican maduro and a choice of fillers which constantly changes. That makes the cigars anywhere from mild-to-medium to full in body, offered in a choice of boxes (of 10, 12, 14, 20 or 25) and fabulous Catauro baskets made of Yagua (palm leaves) with 5, 7, 8 or 10 cigars inside, in the way cigars used to be sold on the street of Miami, Tampa and Havana in the early part of the 20th Century.

A special series called the Colba Gem Collection, designed by Jackie Sarracino, offers bands with a small stone attached: Guama has a diamond; Nucay has amethyst; Yahatuey has a ruby; Canoa has topaz; Tuba has an emerald and Cacique has a sapphire!

An old Cuban brand owned by Rolando Reyes, this blend was revised in 2005 but continues the medium-to-full-bodied heft of this brand. Reyes made the brand in Cuba in the 1940s, then in New Jersey and Miami after the Cuban Revolution and in Honduras since 1989. It was originally introduced in national distribution in 1993, left the market due to trademark issues, then returned in 1999. The blend was changed in 2000 and was changed again to feature a Nicaraguan-grown Corojo wrapper. It's offered in boxes of 20, except for the Lance and Piramide No. 2 (10s).

Recognizing the preferences for more robust cigars, the J.C. Newman Cigar Co. created the strongest version yet for the Cuesta-Rey line in mid-2003. By using a wrapper leaf from the “centro fino” (center) of tobacco grown in the Quevedo region of Ecuador with heavier Dominican-grown ligero, the result is a medium-to-full-bodied blend which has met with wide excitement. The line has expanded and replaced the Centennial Collection, discontinued in 2003. All sizes are offered in boxes of 10, except for the Captiva, offered in 20s.
