Introduced by General Cigar in its current form in the United States in 1971, this is an exceptionally consistent cigar, made with Connecticut Shade wrappers that have been aged for at least three years. The cigar has a silky feel to the hand and has a taste which is only found in a Macanudo. Most sizes are offered in boxes of 25, except for the Ascots (tins of 10), Crystal (box of 8), Caviar (50), Court (30), Duke of Wellington (13), Miniature (8), Thames (20) and Prince Philip (10). Although originally developed and made for many years in Jamaica, all Macanudo production finally shifted to the Dominican Republic in October 2000. The Celebramos was created in 2009 for a special holiday package.

The Cigars by Santa Clara and Mike's Cigars series were created in 2009, using the standard Macanudo blend, but in special shapes and packaging.

| Robusto | Robusto | 5 | 50 | CM |
| Toro | Gigante | 6 | 60 | CM |
| Pyramid | Trompeta | 5 | 60 | CM |

General Cigar created this blend, introduced in 2008, to salute Ramon Cifuentes' 1968 creation of the blend which eventually became today's Macanudo. This is the most powerful Macanudo ever made – full-bodied – with a Honduran-grown San Agustin wrapper and filler leaves from the Nicaraguan island of Ometepe. It's offered only in boxes of 20. The Trompeta was added in 2009.

MACANUDO GOLD LABEL

Handmade in Santiago, Dominican Republic.

Wrapper: USA/Connecticut

Binder: Mexico

Filler: Dom. Rep., Mexico

This famous name in cigars is relatively young, as the brand was originated in 1935 in Cuba. Today's Dominican version, introduced in 1995 and continuously updated, offers outstanding craftsmanship and a slow-burning, medium-to-heavy-bodied smoke whose obvious quality is the lasting impression. It is presented in the familiar yellow box in quantities of 25 cigars per box for all Altadis U.S.A.-distributed sizes except the Memories (10s) and the Habanitos (8s). A special 2009 holiday cigar – the Limited Reserve Commemorative Series (6 x 52 in glass tubes) – was issued in humidor-style boxes of 20.

Regime in 1960. It was designed as a substitute for Montecristo for the American market and was one of the top cigars in the U.S. into the 1990s, with production moved to the Dominican in 1978. It fell out of favor, however, with the introduction of the Dominican-made Montecristo in 1995 and eventually left the market in 2007. It returned in 2008, with its original-style wrapper from Cameroon, but made in Honduras with a new blend as a medium-to-full-bodied smoke offered in boxes of 21.

HANDMADE CIGARS: BRAND LISTINGS

There are cigars, and there is the art of the cigar. Moore & Bode cigars are among the foremost expositions of the roller's art, expressed in the highest possible quality of construction. Two series of identical shapes are made; the Miami Blend (introduced 1990) is a mild-to-medium bodied cigar, while the Flamboyant Blend (1995) is medium. In 1998, the Flamboyant Dark wrapper debuted, in five sizes, with a medium-to-heavy body.

MURCIELAGO ★New★
Handmade in Esteli, Nicaragua.

"Murciélago" means "bat" in Spanish and EO Brands founders Erik Espinosa and Eddie Ortega named this brand after visiting a bat cave in Mexico! Introduced in 2009, the blend is medium-to-full in body. All shapes are box-pressed and offered in boxes of 20.

MURSULI

Handmade in Temple City, California, USA.

Wrapper: Honduras, Nicaragua

Binder: Honduras

Filler: Dominican Republic, Honduras

Blended by veteran cigar maker Oscar Mursuli, this line comes in 14 sizes with a choice of natural wrappers from Connecticut seed (grown in Nicaragua) or maduro-wrapped shapes on five sizes featuring leaves from Honduras. In maduro shade, this is a medium-to-full-bodied cigar, offered in boxes or bundles of 25 cigars each. The natural-wrapped shapes are mild-to-medium in strength. The Sweet Panatela is dipped in sugar syrup at the end only, while the Corona and Linda are also available in a sweetened style.

The Flavors style (5 $\frac{1}{2}$ x 40) is made with short-filler Dominican tobaccos and has an Indonesian wrapper and Honduran binder. It is mild and offered in Amaretto, chocolate, cherry, coconut, honey, mango, rum, raspberry and vanilla.
